

Privacy Policy

Last Updated: 11 July 2025

1. Introduction

This Privacy Policy (Privacy Policy or Policy) outlines how your information is collected, used and disclosed when you access or use our Sites and Services as defined in our terms and conditions of use (Terms). This information is collected, used and disclosed in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) (Privacy Act).

This Privacy Policy is incorporated by reference into our Terms. Any capitalised terms not defined in this Policy are defined in the Terms. You agree to comply with all Terms when accessing or using our Sites and Services, including this Privacy Policy.

We may also use this Personal Information for the purposes as set out in this Policy and in accordance with the terms set out in this Policy.

2. What information do we collect and how is it collected?

We collect Personal Information, as defined in the Privacy Act (including Sensitive Information as defined in the Privacy Act), when you access or use our Sites and Services.

2.1. Personal Information provided by you

We collect information that you provide to us via email, over the phone, use of our Sites, and Services as well as through any other means used to contact us. This includes information that you provide to us when you use, register, and make purchases on our Sites, sign up for our newsletter, sign up to our loyalty program, or take part in competitions, promotions, interviews or surveys.

The kinds of Personal Information we collect vary depending on whether you are a partner or member. For partners, we collect business name, business address, contact person details, email address, phone number, website URL, Instagram handle, and description of business. For members, we collect full name, email address, phone number and address.

We reserve the right to maintain, store and use any information or data where we reasonably believe that such action is required to comply with any legal or regulatory obligations, to prevent criminal or other unlawful activity whether immediate or in the future, or where we have a legitimate business reason to do so, including collection of amounts owed, resolving disputes, enforcing our Terms or for record keeping integrity.

2.2. Automatically collected Personal Information

We automatically record information from your device and its software when you access our Sites and Services, whether via our Website or App. This information may include your IP address, browser type, device type and model, operating system, internet service provider, mobile network carrier, platform type, the website or application from which you came and the website or application to which you are going when you leave our Website or App, date and time stamp and cookies that may uniquely identify your browser or account.

When accessing our Sites or Services using a mobile device, we may also receive and collect identification numbers associated with your device, mobile carrier, device type and manufacturer, and, if enabled, geographical location data (including GPS). Please note that some of the information we collect, for example an IP address, can sometimes be used to approximate a device's location.

2.3. Personal Information collected via cookies

Our Sites may use small pieces of data called cookies to identify a user who engages with our Sites and to compile records of a user's history of engaging with our Sites. Cookies are stored by a users' browser while the user browses a website, and each time you revisit the website. Cookies typically do not contain information that personally identifies a person, but each time the user visits the website, the browser sends the cookie data back to the server to notify the system of the user's previous activity.

When you access our Services via the App, we may use software development kits (SDKs), device identifiers, pixels, and other similar technologies that serve a comparable function to cookies by enabling us to recognise your device, record user preferences, and track usage patterns within the App.

If you wish to disable cookies, you may do so through your browser settings. Similarly, you may manage tracking technologies within your device settings or app permissions (for example, disabling location services or ad tracking identifiers). However, please be aware that disabling these technologies may affect the functionality and availability of certain features on our Website or within our App.

2.4. Personal Information collected via Google Analytics

We use Google Analytics, which allows us to anonymously track the use of our Website, App and Services by recording the number of users who have visited, the number of pages viewed, navigation patterns, what systems users have and the date and time of visits through cookies. This information is collected for statistical purposes only and cannot be used to identify you.

We may use a range of services and functions offered by Google Analytics. We also use Google Analytics to partner with third parties and advertise online. Our third-party partner may use technologies such as cookies and third-party Tracking Technologies to gather information about your activities on our Website, App and other sites in order to provide you advertising based on your browsing activities and interests.

Please see this link for how your data is collected and this link for instructions on how to opt-out of any Google Analytics data tracking.

2.5. Personal Information collected via Meta Pixels

We may use Meta Pixel (formerly Facebook Pixel) on our Sites. Meta Pixel collects data through cookies about actions you make on our Sites, such as viewing a page or clicking on a specific link. This helps us track conversions from Facebook advertisements, optimise advertisements for users, and build targeted audiences for advertisements. See clause 2.3 above for more information about our use of cookies.

We may use a range of services and functions offered by Meta Business Tools. Please note we are not liable for the way Meta uses your information and it is your responsibility to familiarise yourself with the Meta terms. You can access Meta Business Tools Terms here.

We may also use other third-party social media and advertising platforms that operate similar tracking and advertising technologies on our Website and App. Each of these providers is responsible for their own data handling and privacy practices, and we encourage you to review their respective policies before interacting with their services.

2.6. Third Party Payment Processor

We use third party payment processors and gateways to process payments on our Sites. All Personal Information, including any financial information such as credit card numbers, is collected and used directly by our third party payment processors and gateways. Their collection, use, disclosure, and storage of your Personal Information is governed by their own terms of use and privacy policies, not by us.

We do not store or retain any sensitive financial/billing information (being credit card numbers, bank account details, etc.), obtained in connection with processing such payments.

Currently we use Stripe, RevenueCat, Apple pay and Google pay (collectively, Third Party Payment Processors) to facilitate payment processing and in-app transactions. This list may be amended from time to time without notice.

You hereby acknowledge and agree that the respective privacy policies, cookies policy and terms of these Third Party Payment Processors (and any other payment service providers we may engage) will apply in relation to any Personal Information collected, stored and processed on their respective systems and servers. For your convenience and ease of reference, links to the privacy policies of our current Third Party Payment Processors are set out below (together, Third Party Payment Processors Privacy Policies):

- (a) Stripe: Stripe Privacy Policy
- (b) RevenueCat: RevenueCat Privacy Policy
- (c) Apple Pay: Apple Privacy Policy
- (d) Google Pay: Google Privacy Policy

It is your responsibility to carefully review the privacy policies of these Third-Party Payment Processors, as well as any other applicable third-party service providers, and to ensure that you are satisfied with how your Personal Information is collected, used, and stored before proceeding with any transactions through our Services.

If you have any concerns or questions regarding the manner in which these Third-Party Payment Processors process, store, or use your Personal Information, you should contact them directly using their respective support channels or contact details set out in their privacy policies. We do not control, and accept no responsibility or liability for, the privacy practices, security standards, or data handling procedures of these Third-Party Payment Processors. Any issues, disputes, or concerns regarding the processing of your Personal Information by these providers must be addressed directly with them.

2.7. Anonymity and the use of pseudonyms

When we collect your Personal Information, as far as reasonably practicable, you are permitted to interact and/or contact us anonymously or by using a pseudonym except where:

- (a) we are required or authorised by a law or a court or tribunal order to deal with identified individuals; or
- (b) it is impracticable for us to deal with individuals who have not identified themselves.

3. For what purposes do we collect and use Personal Information?

3.1. Use of Personal Information

We collect your Personal Information as outlined in this Privacy Policy for the purposes described below:

- (a) for provision of the Services which shall include without limitation fulfilling your Orders;
- (b) for communication with you and to provide messaging and/or communications to you in association with the functions and features of our Sites;
- (c) for communicating to you any announcements and updates, updated terms, conditions and policies, security alerts, technical notices, support and administrative messages;
- (d) for analysis, monitoring, development and improvement of our Sites and Services, including other products or services;
- (e) for security purposes, including to protect our Sites and our property from abuse, fraud, malicious, unauthorised access or potentially illegal activities, and to protect our rights, safety and property and that of our other users;
- (f) Administering and operating any loyalty program, including registering your membership, allocating and managing membership rewards, tracking your participation and transaction history in connection with the membership program as well as your purchases/exchanges/refunds, and communicating with you about your loyalty benefits, exclusive offers, promotions, and program updates;

- (g) For market and brand research to understand customer preferences, improve our products, and enhance your experience. Your Personal Information may be collected by us or our third party providers through website surveys, third-party platforms, or voluntary participation in interviews or focus groups. We handle all data in line with privacy laws, and where possible, we aggregate or anonymize it. Participation is voluntary, and you can opt out at any time;
- (h) for sending marketing communications to you, including notifying you of promotional or advertising offers, contests and rewards, upcoming events and other news about products and services offered by us and use of our Sites and Services;
- (i) to comply with relevant laws and regulations where applicable; and
- (j) for the performance of other functions described at the time of collection or as consented to in relation to our Sites and Services.

4. How do we store and protect your information?

4.1. Storage of Personal Information

We take reasonable steps to protect your Personal Information in accordance with this Privacy Policy. The Personal Information we collect from you is transferred and stored electronically via a secured SSL connection in our CRM system, which is password-protected and uses encrypted cloud-based servers managed by third-party service providers.

You agree and consent to us storing your Personal Information on such cloud-based servers.

4.2. Who can access your Personal Information?

Your Personal Information is accessible to our employees, contractors and our third-party service providers such as our Sites host, analytics partner, service partners, email providers, payment processors and technical support providers. We may also store your Personal Information in password-protected email databases for the purpose of sending out communications and marketing emails in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

Please note that no method of electronic transmission or storage is 100% secure, whether you access our Services via the Sites. We cannot guarantee the absolute security of your Personal Information. Transmission of Personal Information over the Internet or wireless networks is at your own risk, and you should only enter, or instruct the entering of, Personal Information to our Sites within a secure environment. It is your responsibility to ensure that you keep your Personal Information safe, including regularly updating your device's operating system, apps, and security software to help prevent security breaches.

We reserve the right to maintain and store any information or data where, we reasonably believe, in our sole discretion, that such action is required to comply with any legal or regulatory obligations, to prevent criminal or other unlawful activity whether immediate or in the future, or where we have a legitimate business reason to do so, including collection of amounts owed, resolving disputes, enforcing our Terms or for record keeping integrity.

We destroy or de-identify your Personal Information when it is no longer needed for the purposes outlined in this Policy, subject to our legal obligations to retain certain records for longer periods under applicable laws. However, we may also be required to keep some of your personal information for specified periods of time, for example under certain laws relating to corporations, money laundering, and financial reporting legislation.

5. To whom your Personal Information is disclosed?

Your Personal Information may be disclosed to individuals and companies, for the purposes described in this Policy, as outlined below:

5.1. Bucket List Trips Pty Ltd and Related Bodies Corporate

Your Personal Information may be accessed by us, including our directors, employees, officers and contractors. You consent to us providing your Personal Information, including Sensitive Information to our Related Bodies Corporate (as defined in the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth)).

5.2. Parties required by law

Your Personal Information may be disclosed by us to any party to whom we are required by law to provide your Personal Information and to any party to whom disclosure is permitted under the Australian Privacy Principles, or where we reasonably believe that disclosure is required to comply with any court orders, subpoenas, or other legal process or investigation including by tax authorities, if such disclosure is required by law. Where possible and appropriate, we will notify you if we are required by law to disclose your Personal Information.

5.3. Direct marketing

You agree and expressly and indefinitely consent to us using or disclosing Personal Information (other than Sensitive Information) to keep you informed about our products and services and other products and services that we consider may be of interest to you. For this purpose, disclosure may be made to our third-party service providers. We may communicate with you via phone, email, social media, SMS, or regular mail. If you have indicated a preference for a method of communication, we will endeavour to use that method wherever practical to do so.

You can opt-out of direct marketing communication activities undertaken by us at any time by clicking the “unsubscribe” or “opt-out” link on email communications from us, replying ‘Stop’ to a promotional SMS or by contacting us by phone or email.

5.4. Other third parties

We may share your Personal Information with third parties if it is reasonably related to the provision of our Services. The third parties that we may share your Personal Information with includes delivery and shipping partners, payment processors, promotional, affiliate and rewards partners, consultants, contractors, credit agencies, debt collection agencies and other service providers that perform services on our behalf. Such services we procure may include fulfilling our Orders, identifying and disseminating advertisements and marketing communications, enforcement of our Terms, providing fraud detection and prevention services, processing payments, providing analytics services or delivering other operational support services. We may also share your Personal Information with our business partners who offer goods or services to you jointly with us (for example, contests or promotions).

We may share your Personal Information where we have reason to believe that doing so is necessary to identify, contact or bring legal action against anyone damaging, injuring, or interfering (intentionally or unintentionally) with our rights or property, users, or anyone else who could be harmed by such activities.

We may also share your Personal Information with third parties with your consent in a separate agreement, in connection with any company transaction (such as a merger, sale of assets or shares, reorganisation, financing, change of control or acquisition of all or a portion of our business by another company or third party) or in the event of bankruptcy, dissolution, divestiture or any related or similar proceedings.

Note that we reserve the right to share your Personal Information with other third parties where, in our sole discretion, it is required to:

- (a) investigate and defend ourselves against any third party claims or allegations;
- (b) protect against harm to the rights, property or safety of us, our users or the public as required or permitted by law; and
- (c) detect, prevent or otherwise address criminal (including fraud or stalking), security or technical issues.

5.5. Overseas disclosure

Please note that some of the parties listed above to whom your Personal Information may be disclosed, may be located overseas, including countries such as United States, Ireland, or other jurisdictions.

We use reasonable steps to ensure that these parties are either governed by substantially similar, accessible and enforceable laws to the Australian Privacy Principles or adhere to the Australian Privacy Principles, however to the maximum extent permitted by law, we are not liable for the privacy practices of such parties.

Please note that the transfer of your Personal Information to such overseas parties may pose risks to the security of your Personal Information as these countries may not have been issued with an adequacy decision as set out in the GDPR (if applicable) or have appropriate safeguards in place, however by providing your Personal Information to us, you expressly acknowledge and consent to disclosure of Personal Information to such overseas recipients.

6. Third party websites, applications and social media

Our Sites may, from time to time, contain links to and from websites and mobile applications which are owned or operated by other parties. You acknowledge and agree that we have no control over, and shall not be liable for, the privacy practices or content of these third party websites or mobile applications and we do not make any representation about the privacy practices of, any third-party websites, whether or not linked from or transferred from our Sites. You are responsible for checking the privacy policy of any such third party websites and mobile applications so that you can be informed of how they will handle Personal Information.

We run pages on a number of social media platforms, including (without limitation) Facebook, Instagram, X (formerly Twitter), LinkedIn, YouTube and TikTok (Social Media Platforms). By accessing, interacting with and using our social media pages, you agree to the terms and privacy policy of those Social Media Platforms. You acknowledge and agree that these Social Media Platforms may collect your information and that the privacy practices of those Social Media Platforms are not controlled by us and that we hold no responsibility for such privacy practices.

Social Media Platforms also allow public access to your public social media profile, which may include your username, age range, country/language, list of friends or other information that you make publicly available, and you understand that such information may therefore be accessible by us if you interact with its social media pages.

We may from time to time, have access to statistics regarding the number of views, navigation patterns, posts that you like, comment on or share and any user interactions with our social media pages and may use such information for the purpose of its marketing and promotion strategies.

7. How can you access or update your Personal Information?

At any time, you may request access to Personal Information we hold about you. We may refuse to provide access if the law allows us to do so, in which case we will provide reasons for our decision as required by law.

We take reasonable steps to keep your Personal Information accurate, complete and up to date. If, at any time, you discover that information held about you is incorrect, you may contact us to have the information deleted or corrected.

You may request access to the information we hold about you, or request that we delete, update or correct any Personal Information we hold about you, by setting out your request in writing and sending it to us in accordance with paragraph 10.

We will process your request as soon as reasonably practicable, provided we are not otherwise prevented from doing so on legal grounds. If we are unable to meet your request, we will let you know why.

8. How can you make a complaint about our privacy practices?

You may submit a written complaint about how we handle your Personal Information to our Privacy Officer via the details below. If you are not satisfied with our handling of your complaint or we have not replied to you within a reasonable period of time, then you are entitled to make a complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner.

9. Amendments

We reserve the right to amend this Privacy Policy from time to time with reasonable notice to you. While we endeavour to notify you as soon as reasonably possible of any changes to our Policies by email or by a notice on our Sites, it is your responsibility to keep up to date with any changes or amendments by checking this page prior to using our Sites and Services. This page contains our most accurate and up to date version of our Privacy Policy.

10. Contact us

All requests for access or corrections to your Personal Information and complaints should be directed to our Privacy Officer. If submitting a complaint, please provide our Privacy Officer with full details of your complaint and any supporting documentation:

- (a) by contact form at www.bucketlisttrips.com.au (which uses SSL encryption);
- (b) by e-mail at admin@bucketlisttrips.com.au, or
- (c) by letter to The Privacy Officer, 1/111 McAuley Parade, Pacific Pines Qld 4211.

If you are not satisfied with our handling of your complaint or we have not replied to you within 30 days, then you are entitled to make a complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC) at www.oaic.gov.au or by calling 1300 363 992.
